THE EARL OF ALDBOROUGH
CURED BY
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

THE EARL OF ALDBOROUGH CURED OF A LIVER AND STOMACH COMPLAINT.
Extract of a Letter from the Earl of Aldborough, dated Villa Messina, Leghorn, 21st February, 1845.
To Professor Holloway.
SIR,—Various circumstances prevented the possibility of my thanking you before this time for your politeness in sending me your Pills as you did. I now take this opportunity of sending you an order for the amount, and, at the same time, to add that your Pills have effected a cure of a disorder in my Liver and Stomach, which all the most eminent of the Faculty at home, and all over the Continent, had not been able to effect; nay, not even the waters of Carlsbad and Marienbad. I wish to have another Box and a Pot of the Ointment, in case any of my family should ever require either.—Your most obliged and obedient servant,
(Signed) ALDBOROUGH.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF DROPSY OF FIVE YEARS' STANDING.
Copy of a Letter from Mr. Thomas Taylor, Chemist, Stockton, Durham, 17th April, 1845.
To Professor Holloway.
SIR,—I think it my duty to inform you that Mrs. Clough, wife of Mr. John Clough, a respectable former of Acklam, within four miles of this place, had been suffering from dropsy for five years, and had had the best medical advice without receiving any relief. Hearing of your Pills and Ointment, she used them with such surprising benefit, that in fact, she has now given them up, being so well, and quite able to attend to her household duties as formerly, which she never expected to do again. I had almost forgotten to state that she was given up by the Faculty as incurable. When she used to get up in the morning it was impossible to discover a feature in her face, being in such a fearful state. This cure is entirely by the use of your Medicines.
I am, Sir, &c.,
(Signed) THOMAS TAYLOR.

A CURE OF INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION OF THE BOWELS.
Copy of a Letter from G. R. Wythen Baxter, Esq., author of the "Book of the Bastiles," &c., &c. The Brynn, near Newtown, Montgomeryshire, North Wales, March 3, 1845.
To Professor Holloway.
SIR,—I consider it my duty to inform you that your pills, a few boxes of which I purchased at Mr. Moore's, Druggist, of Newtown, have cured me of constant Indigestion and Constipation of the Bowels, which application to literary pursuits had long entailed upon me. I should strongly recommend authors, and studiously disposed persons generally, to use your valuable Pills. You have my permission to publish this note if you wish to do so.
I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
(Signed) G. R. WYTHEN BAXTER.

A CURE OF ASTHMA AND SHORTNESS OF BREATH.
Extract of a Letter from the Rev David Williams, Resident Wesleyan Minister at Beaumaris, Island of Anglesea, North Wales, January, 14th, 1845.
To Professor Holloway.
SIR,—The pills which I requested you to send me were for a poor man of the name of Hugh Davis, who, before he took them, was almost unable to walk for want of breath! and had only taken them a few days when he appeared quite another man; his breath is now easy and natural, and he is increasing daily in strength.
(Signed) DAVID WILLIAMS.

N B.—These extraordinary Pills will cure any case of Asthma or Shortness of Breath, however long standing or distressing the case may be, even if the patient be unable to lie down in bed through fear of being choked with cough and phlegm.

For China.—By the Marchioness of Douro, on the 29th instant.

For England.—By the Hereford, on the 28th instant; by the Marchioness of Douro, (per overland route) on the 29th instant; and by the Trafalgar, (P.O P.), on the 10th proximo.

English Shipping.—The Henry and Elizabeth was moored off Woolwich September 1st, to take on board female convicts for New Australia. The Molly Bawn and Cashmere were advertised to sail for Sydney in September. The Nelson, to sail August 24, and the Elora, to sail September 30th, were advertised for New Zealand. The Royal George was to sail for Port Phillip early in September.

Mail.—The Walmer Castle's mail consisted of twenty-one bags, containing 1127 letters and 13,468 newspapers.

The Walmer Castle has met with baffling winds since making these coasts. She has on board £60,000 of gold coin; £50,000 for the Commissariat, and £10,000 for the Bank of Australasia. On the 20th of November, spoke the Duke of Richmond, from London, for Port Adelaide, latitute 39 26 S., longitude 66 28 E., 86 days out.

The Aroca spoke the William, Captain Sarjent, on the 31st October, off the North Cape of New Zealand, with 700 barrels sperm oil on board, having left Sydney the 25th November, 1845.

The cargo by the Wanderer consists of 1708 bags sugar, 276 bags coffee, 175 bags pepper, 90 bags rice, 100 cases gin, 2 casks mace, 2 casks nutmegs, 9 casks cloves, 1 case hats, and a quantity of rattans. The brig Calypso was to leave Batavia, for Sydney direct, the day after the Wanderer. The latter saw the brig Dorset, on Saturday last, at two P.M., off Cape Howe, hence for Adelaide. The barque Sarah Scott, hence, arrived at Batavia on the 13th October.

The Waterlily reports having spoken the brig Calypso, on Saturday last, 60 miles S. of Cape Howe, at two P.M., from Batavia for Sydney. Same day, at noon, saw a brig about 80 miles to the southward of Cape Howe, supposed to be the Louisa, hence for Hobart Town.

THE SEPTEMBER MAIL.

The Walmer Castle only brings papers one day later than those previously received. The only item of important news is that the weather was fine, and that the harvest was proceeding favourably, the crops having been secured in some parts of the country. We give a few extracts in another part of the paper.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.—Wednesday.

NISI PRIUS SITTINGS.

Before His Honor Mr. Justice Therry, and a Jury of four.

WILKIE v. BYRNES AND ANOTHER.

This was an action of special assumpsit, in which George Wilkie was the plaintiff, and Messrs. James and William Byrnes were the defendants. The declaration set forth an alleged contract, by which the plaintiff undertook to bake a quantity of biscuit for the defendants, and under which he used 34,000 lbs. of seconds flour, for which an equal quantity of the same flour was to be returned by the defendants, within a reasonable time. The declaration then went on to allege a breach of this condition by a failure to deliver the flour within due time. To this the defendants had pleaded, first, the general issue, and secondly that they had always been ready to perform the contract, &c.

Messrs Foster and Michie appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Broadhurst for the defendants.

From the evidence adduced in this case it appeared that Messrs. Byrnes having to complete a large contract of biscuit for the Commissariat department, engaged with the plaintiff to bake it for them and furnish seconds flour for a part, in order to complete the order with greater speed. For the flour thus used an equal quantity was to be given back by the defendants, and the principal point in contest was, whether the plaintiff was bound to send the bags to defendant's premises for the flour, or whether the defendants ought themselves to send for the bags. The plaintiff's evidence went to show that about 33,600 lbs. of seconds flour had been used by the plaintiff, and that the defendants had never sent for the bags, or shown a readiness to deliver the flour according to contract, although frequent promises had been made to do so by persons in defendants' employ. The application was first made in the early part of August, and the defendants did not send for the bags until the latter end of September, when the plaintiff refused to receive the flour at all. It was further proved that there had been a great change in the market price of flour between the time when the flour was to have been delivered, and that at which the defendants offered to deliver it. The plaintiff's case, as to the neglect of defendants to send for the bags, &c., rested principally upon the evidence of a witness who was contradicted on several points by two or three witnesses on the other side. There was some evidence given by the defendants to show that an inferior quality of flour to what was termed "seconds" was to have been delivered, but this was contradicted by a document which came out of their own possession, showing that the quality was looked upon as that which the defendants were bound to deliver. One of the defendants' witnesses also proved that there had been something like a demand and a promise to deliver as late as the tenth of September.

His Honor having summed up at very great length, the Jury, after an absence of three-quarters of an hour, found a verdict for the defendants upon the material issues.

INSOLVENCY JURISDICTION.

Before His Honor Mr. Justice Dickinson.

PLANS OF DISTRIBUTION.

Plans of distribution were made in the estates of Richard Dawson and John Thom, the former yielding a final dividend of 2½d. in the pound, and the latter a dividend of 1½d. in the pound.

MUNRO v. M'DONALD.

This was an application calling upon the insolvent to show cause why an order should not be made for his imprisonment, unless he contributed something from his income towards the payment of the applicant's debt; and the Chief Commissioner having reported upon the facts, the insolvent was ordered to pay twelve shillings per week, or in default to be imprisoned.

The Cause List.—There are nine cases undisposed of, viz.:—Smart v. Russell; Hanson v. Martyr; Blackett v. Abercrombie; Macdermott v. Heathorne; Taggart v. Smith; Mullins v. Pheeny; M'Eldowney v. Crotty; Attorney-General v. Wild.

Business for to-day.—The three Judges will sit to-day for the purpose of hearing arguments upon the petition of Hannah Morley, who seeks to set aside the proceedings by which she has been declared a lunatic.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

Military Movements.—The detachment of the 99th regiment, now on board the Java, will not disembark in Sydney, but proceed to Hobart Town to join the Head Quarters of the regiment.

INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS.

Wednesday.

Before the Chief Commissioner.

PROOF OF CLAIMS.

In the estate of William Hughes Hallett, a single meeting was held, at which the following claims were proved—William Pendray, sen., £25; Robert Bourne and Co., £6; Thomas Skinner, £23 16s. 6d.

In the estate of James Dorsett, a single meeting was held, but no claims were proved.

MEETINGS FOR TO-DAY.

William Grinsell Burgess, a first meeting, at eleven

William Dolan, a first meeting, at half-past eleven

To-morrow being a holiday, no meetings are entered.

Sequestration.—The estate of John Von Margerhoussen Wiess and Charles Appleton, of Pitt-street, Sydney, merchants, lately trading under the style and firm of Charles Appleton, and Company, (the latter partner being absent from the colony,) was sequestrated yesterday, on a petition and affidavit being filed by Mr. Wiess. Mr. John Walker was appointed official assignee.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Tuesday, 15.—Clear lovely weather, morning calm, middle and latter parts moderate breezes from north-east.

Wednesday, 16.—Light north airs and fogs till seven o'clock, afterward sultry and gloomy with distant thunder; stormy, clouds kept gathering in the west and south-west during midday. At 2·40 an extensive bank of nimbus reaching from north-west to south, which had been bearing up from south-west with a fearful aspect, reached across the zenith, (just prior to this the temperature of the air rose 3°); rain then commenced with violence, with severe squalls from west by south; barometer simultaneously rose rapidly; after the lapse of a few minutes the rain was accompanied by a shower of large hard hail, most of which was of an irregular oval or oblong shape, flattened, some whereof measured rather more than three quarters of an inch long; it came with such violence as to break some panes of glass. The lightning was very fierce, but not near us. This storm continued to rage till 3·15, when rain abated; thunder continued without intermission for a considerable time; the fall of rain during 35'—1·61 inches; then followed a calm; afterward light south, and veered south-east, and about five o'clock north-east, and before sunset north: night, moderate, dark and dirty, and raining till ten o'clock: latter night, wind backed to south, strong.

Thursday, 17.—Morning, fresh south, cloudy, no rain; A.M., cleared up and became a lovely bright day, without a cloud in the sky middle and latter parts.

Friday, 18.—Morning, calm, (west-north-west), afterward moderate north wind; heavy dull atmosphere, and sultry; frequent thunder from the west.

Saturday, 19.—Calm early and mild, cirri; before nine wind freshened from northward; clear till after 4·30, when thunder clouds showed their heads from south-west; presently a huge cloudy bank, stretching its solid length along from south to north-west, (resembling an immense snow drift, which had been lifted up from the earth, and carrying up along its under surface a black crest of dirt); rose majestically toward the zenith—at about 5·30 it approached us: a portion of this storm, in which the lightning played chiefly, kept away to northward and westward of us, the other came distinctly over us from the south, with a furious squall of wind, heavy rain, and hail, some pieces of which were larger than that which fell on 16th: the storm was over in about 35', and then the sky cleared and sunshone. (Just after this storm, in walking through a gully, I passed through a narrow vein or current of hot air, the transition most sudden, both in and out, and the whole width of it could not exceed eight or nine yards.) Subsequently, much lightning in north-east, east, and south-east, and wind came fresh from south, south-east, south; during fore-night several partial nimbi, with lightning and thunder passed over from southward, with heavy squalls of wind: after eight, barometer rose rapidly.

Sunday, 20.—Fine bright weather throughout; forenoon, moderate breezes, veering south-west, south, south-east, to north-east-north; evening, some sudden transit gusts from southward and eastward.

Monday, 21.—A very lovely day, not a cloud in the sky day or night: morning, gentle north-east breezes; P.M., freshened gradually towards evening.

The Gaol.—State of Her Majesty's Gaol, Darlinghurst, on the 24th December, 1846:—Trial, 16 males, 4 females; transportation, 3 males; bail, 9 males, 6 females; confinees, 39 males, 26 females; labour, 61 males, 4 females; interior, 1 male; 13 children; solitary confinees, 3 females. Total, 130 males, 56 females. In all, 186.

TALLOW, HIDES, &c.

(From Good and Rigg's Circular, August 31.)

The Tallow Market has been more buoyant this month than for some time past, and considerable sales of Russian have been effected at an advance of fully 6d. per cwt.; new tallow is now quoted at 42s. 3d., and old at 41s. 9d. per cwt. The deliveries are still much less than those at the same period last year, and as the arrivals from St. Petersburg have lately been heavy, the stock is now nearly equal to that at the close of August, 1845. In the early part of the month the sale of New South Wales was limited, as there was no disposition to sell except at full prices, which could not then be freely obtained; latterly the demand has improved, and that offered at public sale on the 28th instant sold briskly at an advance of 6d. to 9d per cwt.

The arrivals this month are small, not exceeding 94 casks. Present stock, 332 casks. The sales are confined to 167 casks, as follows:—

Mutton Tallow.—Pale, fair body, 41s. 9d. to 42s.; middling colours, rather tender, 41s. 3d. to 41s. 6d.; rather dark, rather tender, 40s. 6d. to 41s.

Beef Tallow.—Fair colours, fair body, 41s. 3d. to 41s. 9d.; ditto, rather greasy, 41s.; ditto, very greasy and softish, 39s; middling colours, fair body, 41s. to 41s. 6d.; ditto, rather greasy, 40s. 3d. to 40s. 6d.; rather dark, fair body, 40s. 6d. to 40s. 9d.; ditto, greasy, 39s.; ditto, very greasy and softish, 38s.; dark, fair body, 39s. to 39s. 6d.; very dark and inferior, 37s.

New South Wales Hides.—There is a fair demand; but prices may be quoted at ½d. to ¼d. per lb. lower. The only sale to notice is 821 hides as follows—1st class heavy, 54¼ lb. 3¾d.;—1st class light, 43½ lb. 3¼d., and damaged hides, 2½d. per lb. Import 1292 hides. Present stock 2497 hides.

Mimosa Bark.—The sales are 150 tons, at prices varying from £8 to £8 5s. per ton. Import 135 tons. The stock is light.

ABSTRACT OF SALES BY AUCTION. THIS DAY.

Mr. R. Fawcett.—At his Rooms, at half-past 10 o'clock, Paper Hangings, Flannels, Shirtings, damaged Flannels, Colonial Cheese, Toys, Dolls, Whips, &c.; at 11 o'clock, Carriages, Horses, Harness, and remaining Assets.

Mr. S. Lyons.—At his Mart, at 11 o'clock, cargo, ex Alligator, of Groceries, &c.

Mr. Mort.—At his Rooms, at 11 o'clock, Potatoes and Maize; at 12 o'clock, Bacon, Hams, Cheese.

Mr. Roberts.—At the London Tavern, at Noon, Household Furniture, Books, and sundries.

Mr. Stubbs.—At the Town Hall, at Noon, the Lease for one year of the Corporation Properties.

The Sheriff.—On the premises, adjoining the City Council Chambers, York-street, at 12 o'clock, Household Furniture, Books, &c.

COUNTRY SALE.

Mr. Stubbs.—On the premises, Illawarra, January 14, the Estate of Woodlands, with the Household Furniture, Agricultural Implements, Farm Stock, &c.

The Scene in Court.—We are requested to state that the following address was made to the Court by Mr. Darvall before sentence was delivered by the Chief Justice:—"I beg most respectfully to decline making any statement of what has taken place; but I do assure this Court of my unfeigned regret for having suffered myself to be betrayed into an unpardonable act of violence within the precincts of this Court. I can say nothing in justification of what I have done, but I trust that the Court will, in extenuation of my conduct, take into their consideration the very great provocation which I had received."

Slaughter-house Licenses. — Yesterday, pursuant to notice, a special meeting of the magistrates took place in the police office for the purpose of determining whether licenses ought to be granted to the applicants for newly erected houses within the city boundaries. After considerable discussion, licenses were granted to Alfred Davis, for a slaughter-house at Blackwattle Swamp. James May also obtained a license for a slaughter-house in the same locality. Messrs. Stanfield and Raper also obtained a license for their new premises at the western extremity of Bathurst-street. A special meeting of the licensing magistrates was fixed for three P.M., but as only six qualified magistrates were in attendance no business was done.

Inquests.—An inquisition was held before the Coroner on Tuesday afternoon in the "Royal Oak" public-house, Miller's Point, on the body of James Andrews, then lying dead on Deloitte's Wharf. According to the evidence, the deceased was steward of the Thomas Lowry, Captain Graham, and was seen alive about ten o'clock on Saturday evening, when he was apparently sober, but had been drinking. Captain Graham deposed that the deceased was a sober, well conducted man, and had been seven years in the ship; in his opinion he must have fallen between the shore and the vessel, as it was blowing very hard about the time he was last seen alive; his body was discovered floating on the water on Tuesday morning alongside the ship, where several guns had been previously fired, in order by their concussion, to raise the body. Dr. Silver having certified that death had been caused by drowning, and that there were no marks of violence on the body, the jury returned a verdict of found drowned.—A Jury was impanelled yesterday afternoon, in the "Corporation Inn," Surry Hills, on the body of Eliza Brownlow, who had destroyed herself by taking a quantity of arsenic, which she had purchased from Mr Grant, Chemist, Pitt-street South, on pretence that it was to poison rats that she wanted the arsenic. The Jury returned a verdict that deceased died in consequence of taking poison, while labouring under temporary insanity.

Petty Sessions.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed the following places to be places for holding the Courts of Petty Sessions, under the provisions of the Act of the Colonial Legislature, 3rd William IV., No. 3, viz.:—In the district of Maneroo: 1. The town of Eden, in the county of Auckland; 2. Cooma, the present head quarters of the Crown Commissioner of the district.—In the district of Murrumbidgee: 3. Tumut, the present head quarters of the Crown Commissioner of the district; 4. The township of Albury; 5. Denilquin, the crossing place on the Edward River.—In the district of Lachlan: 6. Binalong, the present head quarters of the Crown Commissioner of the district. In the district of Wellington: 7. Molong.—In the district of Bligh: 8. Dubbo, on the Macquarie River.—In the district of Liverpool Plains: 9. Tamworth; 10. Warialda, (near the junction of Reedy Creek with the Bundarra;) 11. Pockataroo, (near the junction of the Darling and Gwyder Rivers;) 12. Wee Waa, (Gilchrist's station on the Namoi.)—In the district of New England: 13. Armidale; 14. Wellingrove, (Polhill's station.)—In the district of Darling Downs: 15. Cambooya, the present head quarters of the Crown Commissioner of the district; 16. Canning Downs, (the station of Messrs. Leslie)—In the district of M'Leay River: 17. The present head quarters of the Crown Commissioner of the district.—In the district of the Clarence district: 18. The settlement on the Clarence River, to be called Grafton; 19. Cassino, (Mr. Irving's station,) on the Richmond River.—In the district of Moreton Bay: 20. Ipswich, in the county of Stanley; 21. Cressbrook, (M'Connell's station on the River Brisbane.—Port Phillip.—In the district of Western Port: 22. Mount Macedon, (Wedge's station;) 23. The Pyrenees, (Petit's station.)—In the district of Portland Bay: 24. The Grange, (the present police station.)—In the district of the Murray: 25. The Broken River, (the present police station.)—In the district of Gipps Land: 26. Alberton; 27. Flooding Creek, on the north side of the River La Trobe.

Street Robbery by Soldiers.—Referring to a paragraph, which appeared in Monday's Herald, in which a bandsman of the 99th Regiment was charged by a glazier named M'Guiggan with stealing a diamond and putty knife, of the value of 20s., we are requested to contradict the assertion. M'Guiggan, when called upon to substantiate his charge, refused to appear; and there is reason to fear that the whole originated in a desire on the part of concealed persons to prejudice the entire band in the estimation of the public as well as of the commanding officer of the regiment.

Stealing Clothing.—Between Friday night and Saturday morning an entrance was effected into the yard attached to William Pearson's cottage, Surry Hills, when a quantity of napkins and body linen, value 40s., was stolen out of a washing tub, where it had been left on Friday evening till the following day.

Erratum.—In the Government Gazette of the 13th ultimo, for John Bettington and John Crichton Stewart M'Douall, appointed magistrates, read John Henshall Bettington and John Crichton Stuart M'Douall.

MILITARY GENERAL ORDER.

General Order, No. 213.

Head Quarters, Sydney,
December 22, 1846.

The following copy of a letter, addressed respectively to Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Hulme, 96th Regiment, and Lieutenant-Colonel Wynyard, 58th Regiment, by order of the Lieutenant-Governor and Executive Council of New Zealand, on the departure of those officers and their corps from that colony, is published for general information.

By command, &c.,
G. C. MUNDY, Lieutenant-Colonel,
Deputy Adjutant-General.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Auckland, 3rd December, 1846.

Sir,—Upon your departure from this colony with that portion of the 96th Regiment under your command, the Lieutenant-Governor and the Executive Council have thought it right to express their sense of the obligations the Government, and the inhabitants of this colony, are under to yourself and the officers of your Regiment, for the gallantry and indefatigable zeal which you have on all occasions exhibited for the suppression of rebellion, and the protection of the lives and property of Her Majesty's subjects, and this under circumstances, the trying and difficult nature of which can only be fully appreciated by those acquainted with the nature of the country, and the character of the enemy, against which you have had to contend.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Executive Council have also placed on record the sense they entertain of the bravery which has on every occasion been exhibited in the field, and of the discipline which has always been shown in quarters by the non-commissioned officers and private soldiers of the detachment of the 96th Regiment, which conduct on their part has not only had the effect of quelling insurrection, but has tended to conciliate and gain the attachment, not only of the European population, but (particularly in the case of detached posts) of that portion of the native inhabitants of this colony with whom they have been brought into intercourse; many of whom were previously in open revolt against the Queen's authority.

I am to request that you will cause these, the sentiments of the Lieutenant-Governor and the Executive Council, to be made known to the detachment under your command in such manner as you may think most proper.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
(Signed) ANDREW SINCLAIR,
Colonial Secretary.

To Lieut.-Col. Hulme, commanding detachment 96th Regiment

Ship Letters detained. — The following notice appeared in Tuesday's Government Gazette:—"A list of Ship Letters detained in the General Post Office, in consequence of ship postage required thereon not having been paid. —Thomas Adams, Devon, England. Removal of a Publican's General License.—Stephen Murphy, holding a publican's license for a house in Cumberland-street, received permission from the Mayor and Mr. Windeyer on Tuesday to remove the said license to a new house on the South Head Road.

Sneaking.—On Monday last, an old woman was seen prowling about in Harris-street, near Parramatta-street, on pretence of begging; after visiting the house occupied by Mr. Roberts, a workbox with its contents, value £1, was missed from one of the windows adjoining the door, where it had been incautiously left. A search was immediately after commenced for the beggar-woman, who had called at the house, but she was non est.

Stealing from a Vessel.—Between Saturday night and Sunday morning, some persons, by the assistance of a boat, contrived to enter the cabin of the barque Henrietta, Captain Sergeant, while lying off Campbell's Wharf, from which they carried away an old fashioned silver watch, a small telescope, a black hat, a razor, and a handkerchief, the property of Captain Sargeant—value of the property stolen about £6.

We are requested to state that the lettings of the tolls on the Cook's River Road, by Mr. Stubbs, is unavoidably postponed to Wednesday, the 30th instant, at twelve o'clock.

Lease of Markets and City Properties.—We are requested by Mr. Stubbs, the City Auctioneer, to remind the public that the revenues derivable from the George-street and other markets, and also the city fountains, &c., will be sold by public auction, at the Council Chambers, York-street, this day, at noon.—Communicated.

Cargo of the "Alligator."—Grocers and others are reminded that the cargo of the Alligator, consisting of fine and strong sugars, coffee, tea, &c., will be sold this day by Mr. Samuel Lyons, at his mart, at eleven o'clock, in lots to suit the convenience of purchasers.—Communicated.

Maize, Brown's River Potatoes, &c.—We are requested to call the attention of private families, dealers, and others to Mr. Mort's sale, at his Rooms, this day, at eleven o'clock, of maize, Brown's River potatoes, bacon, hams, cheese, &c., the whole of which will be sold in lots to suit every description of purchasers.—Communicated.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our Correspondent.)

PARRAMATTA.

Serious Charge against a Publican.—On Thursday, a man of the name of Torpy was brought before the Police Bench at the instance of a person named Challcott, under a charge of assaulting and robbing the latter of £2 5s. 3d., on the night of Sunday, the 6th instant, opposite the North Star Inn, on the Sydney Road. From what then transpired, the proprietor of the above establishment, a person of the name of Lilebridge, and a female resident in the house, named Cannon, were placed at the bar with Torpy on Saturday, on which day the investigation of the case was again remanded until yesterday, (Monday), when a fourth party of the name of Smith, against whom a warrant had been issued, having on that morning surrendered himself, was also before the Court. The particulars, which were rather lengthy, appeared to be, that between half-past eleven and twelve o'clock on the night of Sunday, the 6th instant, Challcott, in company with Smith, went to the North Star Inn, and the former called for some ale, but Lilebridge having none, some porter was supplied instead, and brought outside the house and given to Challcott. Subsequently Challcott refused to pay for the porter, stating he called for ale, and a quarrel ensued between him and Smith, when, after some words had passed there was a fight between them, and it was alleged the female urged Smith on. Shortly afterwards Torpy came from the house in company with Lilebridge and Cannon, and the latter ordered Torpy to take Challcott from where he was on the raised pavement before the house, as there was danger of the windows being broken; and after Torpy had about a minute's conversation with Smith, who had at this time left Challcott, he took the latter away from where he was, led him to a green before the house, then threw him down, robbed him of the money in question, which was all in silver, and hit him a couple of blows. At this time all the parties before the Court were present, but the female was at some distance away from the spot where the robbery had been committed; but on hearing Challcott accuse Torpy of robbing him which he did immediately after he felt his money taken, she called him away, saying, "that will do, come in;" and she, Torpy, and Lilebridge, then went into the inn, and closed the door. A neighbour living opposite, who witnessed the whole affair, told the parties he would bring them before the Court, and took Challcott to his house, searched him, and found he had no money on him; and some short time after Challcott had been in this person's house, Smith came in, and was excessively impertinent about his being suspected of being connected with the robbery. Lilebridge subsequently came and offered to give 17s. 9d., which he stated was all the money that Torpy had taken from the prosecutor. A person of the name of Freeman, the neighbour alluded to, gave evidence confirmatory of the foregoing, and also additional testimony that on the day following the robbery, as he (the witness) was proceeding to Sydney, when between Iron Cove Bridge and the road leading to Ashfield, Torpy came from out of the brush a-head of a cart he (the witness) was driving, threw himself on his knees, and told the witness his liberty was in his hands. Witness told him to return the money to Challcott, which he had robbed him of, and leave that part of the country; but Torpy said the money was at the public-house where he had been advised to leave it, in case he should get taken; and that he could not get it back. Mr. Nichols appeared for Cannon, and elicited from Challcott that he had been drinking during the Sunday, and from his own statement no inconsiderable quantity, but he averred that "though he had a glass in him he was sensible what he was doing." The other prisoners were also cross-examined, but nothing invalidating either Challcott's or Freeman's testimony transpired. The Bench committed all the prisoners for trial, but allowed Lilebridge and Cannon bail.

The late Storm.—The lightning that prevailed during the late storms appears to have been accompanied with considerable danger. In two separate parts of Parramatta, and at considerable distances from each other, during the storm of Saturday, places have been struck. Fortunately there has been in these cases no loss of life. In the storm on the night of the 13th instant, the house of Mr. M'Roberts, a publican, in the upper part of Church-street, was struck, and there was almost a miraculous preservation of life. The lightning struck the gable end of the house, which is a detached one, tore off a portion of the roof, entered a bedroom where a child was sleeping, passed through an open door, and running along the iron balustrade of a staircase, reached the bar, where it severed the pipes of the beer engine. On the storm commencing, Mr. M'Roberts had opened the doors of the house, and, to the ready exit thus afforded, perhaps the safety of the persons in the bar is to be attributed.

Awkward Mistake.—On the occasion of the Governor's last being in Parramatta, His Excellency partook of some refreshment at Government House. As soon as Sir Charles had left, a person employed in the extensive repairs which are going on at this building, proceeded to the room where His Excellency had been, thinking, as was admitted, to enjoy the fragments of the repast, and after some searching, finding in a cupboard a wine bottle, without glancing at the label which was on it, took a hurried but deep draught. The taste of the liquid, as soon as the purloiner allowed himself time to exercise that feeling, satisfied him it was not wine he had been imbibing, and an immediate vomiting ensued. Growing alarmed, a confession of the misdeed was made, and it was then found that the liquid in the bottle was a strong solution of corrosive sublimate for the purpose of destroying ants, and that sufficient had been taken to poison half-a-dozen men. Dr. Gwynne was promptly in attendance with the stomach pump, and to the early use of this instrument and the vomiting which had taken place, consequent on the drinker having "overdosed" himself, he owes his life.

The Military.—Colonel Wyndyard, with the head quarters of the 58th regiment, returned on Monday, to Parramatta, much to the satisfaction of the inhabitants. During the short time this regiment was in Parramatta, previous to its being ordered to New Zealand, both officers and men had acquired the esteem and respect of all classes. There is also another important circumstance for rejoicing, so far as the trading portion of the community is concerned, the weekly outlay accruing from a regiment, is by no means inconsiderable.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Darlinghurst Gaol, 23rd December, 1846.

Gentlemen,—As you have in this day's Herald published yesterday's "Scene in the Supreme Court," and have undertaken to say that it is "correctly detailed," and have adopted that statement of your anonymous contributor, who merely gives the evidence of a witness confessedly incompetent, I trust you will do me the justice to promulgate the following version of the matter. I admit the whole of what I said and did after the words "it is false," as said and done in the Supreme Court, to be wholly without justification; but up to those words I conceive that in what I said and did I was more sinned against than sinning. That I have had awarded to me so severe a mark of the Court's displeasure, I am content here to attribute to the defective statements given to the Chief Justice by persons unknown to me, behind my back, and out of Court!!! The Chief Justice admits that he was "too much shocked at the time to make any very accurate note of what passed." Seeing, therefore, that His Honor was not prepared to give judgment upon his own view, and enter record what had passed, it strikes me that it would have been more generally satisfactory, had he, before passing his sentence, called for affidavits of witnesses. His Honor certainly said (though not exactly as reported by you), that he would receive what I understood was to be a written statement from Mr. Darvall and myself. I declined to give it, but in doing so expressed my wish to refer to the early part of what had taken place, to extenuate my fault. I expected to have an opportunity of so doing, and also of apologising to the profession of which I have the honour to be a member, as well as to the Court, for having been driven into forgetfulness of what was due to both. But immediately I declined to furnish the written notes I stated I had prepared, His Honor, among other things, said that he adopted a statement that had been compiled behind my back, and, unless my ears deceived me, that he should abide by it. His Honor then reading off his statement and sentence, it was evident that nothing further need be said. I will only say that I have reason to believe I should not have had occasion to trouble you with any correction of your report, had you trusted to the reporter I understand you had in Court, and that the account I give you below has been pronounced by gentlemen present, who were not too confused to note the course of the quarrel, to be correct. The following is my version of the scene in the Supreme Court:—

Mr. Darvall, as counsel for defendant, in stating his case to the Jury, complained of the plaintiff's case having been brought before them in an unfair, though perhaps convenient manner.

Mr. Windeyer, in his reply, was interrupted by Mr. Darvall several times before the matter following occurred, which is given in the first person, containing as nearly as may be all that passed. Continuing his address to the Jury,

Mr. Windeyer said, I have, gentlemen, to regret that my friend was instructed to speak of my client as "a fellow whom Mr. Fowler did not wish to work for nothing," for it appears that the parties dined at the same table, and lived together in all respects as equals. I know nothing to justify his being spoken of as a fellow, except that he is an honest fellow, which is more than I can say of the defendant, after the case he has set up to-day.

Mr. Darvall (beginning to speak after the preceding sentence was half uttered): There is no proof of that.

Mr. Windeyer: My friend says that there is no proof of my client's honesty; nor is there need of it, gentlemen: for the law presumes him honest till the contrary be shown.

Mr. Darvall: It is very fortunate there is such a presumption.

Mr. Windeyer, continuing his address: If it were necessary, gentlemen, I could produce certificates of character from different officers under whom the plaintiff has served; but it——

Mr. Darvall: I shall claim a right to reply on that statement.

Mr. Windeyer, continuing to address the Jury: My friend says that he shall claim a right of reply. I cannot prevent him; and in claiming to reply, he may make unfair statements of my client, as he has previously in the case.

Sir Alfred Stephen, Chief Justice, (beginning before the preceding sentence was quite finished): Mr. Darvall will be entitled to no reply, but Mr. Windeyer is most irregular in making such a statement, and the time of the Court ought not to be wasted in observations and matters so entirely unimportant, and beside the question before us. [This sentence is given upon the authority of the Chief Justice, but the latter part was not heard by the writer.]

Mr. Darvall: I submit, your Honor, that I shall be entitled to reply; but I will not have it said by any man that I have acted unfairly; I deny it, it is untrue, I say it pointedly. [The writer is uncertain whether the two last expressions were not here repeated.]

Mr. Windeyer [Mr. W. had continued standing towards the Jury: after Mr. Darvall had finished, Mr. W. slightly paused and then proceeded]: Well, gentlemen, I state it as my opinion that the defendant's case has been unfairly put to you.

Mr. Darvall: It is untrue, I say it pointedly it is untrue.

Mr. Windeyer: Of course, and I say the same of what he says.

Mr. Darvall: It is false.

Mr. Windeyer [still standing towards the Jury on the platform in front, with his back to Mr. Darvall, who on the second seat was raised above Mr. Windeyer]: Then he is a liar.

Mr. Darvall then, with his brief, struck Mr Windeyer on the back of his head.

Mr. Windeyer started round down to the floor of the Court, in front of the Jury box, and seeing Mr. Darvall handling the brief in passion, involuntarily raised his arms, not "in a boxing attitude," not "squared at Mr. Darvall," but "squared" in an attitude to ward off from his face, and with that intention, a repetition of the blow. He did not "attempt to strike Mr. Darvall," but he did make a step towards Mr. Darvall, and did something quite inconsistent with the possibility of his having in his mind the idea of returning, or attempting to return, the blow, which something the Chief Justice and many more did not see. Mr. Darvall's blow with the brief was not meant as a physical infliction, but as an insult. The return was of like nature.

I will not trust myself at present to make any observations upon the differences between the two accounts.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your very obedient servant,
RICHARD WINDEYER.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—I cannot allow the mis-statements put forth by Mr. George Bennett, Surgeon, to go uncontradicted, in his letter addressed to you in your paper of the 21st inst., in reference to the inquest held on the body of John Rowland, that he received no intimation from me of the intended inquest until a quarter to five P.M., on the seventeenth instant. The circumstances of the death of Rowland were reported to me early on that day, and I declined holding an inquest till further inquiry had been made; and about half-past two on the same day circumstances were reported to me which induced me to hold the inquest, and appoint four o'clock for that purpose, and I directed my constable to forthwith proceed to the residence of Mr. Bennett, and request his attendance at that hour, which was accordingly obeyed by the constable (Callaghan.) At the hour appointed, and after the Jury having been sworn, I was informed Mr. Bennett had not yet arrived, when I again despatched constable Callaghan to his residence to request his attendance, and to state that the Court and jury were waiting his arrival. On the return of the constable, I was informed he was not to be found, whereupon by mere accident I was informed that Dr. Tierney had been in attendance on a patient in the house, the late residence of the deceased, and that he had frequent opportunities of seeing the deceased for the last month. I therefore ordered him to attend, at the same time informing the jury, that I had ordered and expected the attendance of Mr. Bennett, who had formerly attended the deceased, although I was apprised not lately until the night of death. I heard nothing of the strenuous opposition of the relations of the deceased, and if I had it would not have influenced me, as I in no case hold an inquiry unless I feel called upon to do so, nor is it my practice to consult medical gentlemen either as to the propriety or necessity of holding such inquiries, as I am the sole Judge of such matters; and I must say I consider Mr. Bennett's letter uncalled for and unbecoming; he is evidently ignorant of the relative positions of medical attendant and coroner. Supposing it to be true, that the constable did not apprise Mr. Bennett of the inquest at the hour I directed him, after the public notice taken of the matter by me at the inquest, courtesy should have dictated to Mr. Bennett the propriety of personal communication with me on the subject, rather than hazard an appeal to the public without being apprised of the state of facts.

Your obedient servant,
JOHN RYAN BRENAN.

22nd December, 1846.

In obedience to the order of the Coroner, I beg to state that I called at Mr. Bennett's residence on the 17th instant, at about fifteen minutes past three o'clock, P.M., to give him notice that the inquest on the man Rowland would be held at four, P.M., on that day. Mr. Bennett was not then at home, but I left the message with his servant, and the Doctor not being in attendance at the hour appointed, nor at ten minutes to five, I was again directed by the Coroner to return to Mr. Bennett's residence, and if he had not returned to endeavour to find him, which I did, but could hear nothing of him. I then stated to the Coroner that a woman who lived in the same house with deceased, and whose husband had been attended by Dr. Tierney, had informed me that Dr. Tierney had frequent opportunities of seeing the deceased, when I was directed to procure his attendance at the inquest.

WILLIAM CALLAGHAN,
Constable.

THE GERMAN REFORMATION MOVEMENT.—CZERSKI.

A public meeting was held last evening, at the Hanover-square Rooms, when the celebrated Czerski, the German Reformer, delivered an address with reference to the Reformation movement. The room was filled with a fashionable audience. On the platform were—Dr. Henderson, Dr. Conquest, Rev. R. Herschell, Professor Tholuck, of Halle, Saxony; J. S. Reynolds, Esq., Rev. W. Chave, J. D. Paul, Esq., Hon. and Rev. O. Forester, Hon. A. Kinnaird, Captain Trotter, the Rev. Thomas Coney, Rev. Thomas Smythe, of Glasgow, and Monsieur Marten. In the absence of Lord Ashley the chair was taken by the Hon. W. Cowper, M.P.

The Rev. R. Herschell, who subsequently acted as interpreter, said that during a fortnight, whilst he had had Mr. Czerski in his house, he had every opportunity of making himself acquainted with the private character of Mr. Czerski, and he was able to bear testimony to his earnestness and his solidity of character, his quietness of demeanour, and his tenderness of disposition; and in every respect he found him to be a man from whom he (Mr. H.) was most unwilling to part.

Czerski then addressed the assembly in German, his discourse being translated, sentence by sentence, by the Rev. Mr Herschell. He commenced by expressing his gratitude for the sympathy manifested towards the religious movement in Germany by the people of England, and his satisfaction at coming over to this country on the invitation of the friends of the movement. The reasons which induced him to leave the Church of Rome were, that he would not serve the prince of this world, who seats himself in the temple of God, and says, "I am God;" and he desired to enter this light, and leave the darkness which reigned in the Church of Rome. Having adverted at some length to the tenets of the Roman Catholic Church, he said that he had been ordained a Roman Catholic priest in Posen, and while attached to the cathedral there he commenced laying the Scriptures before the congregation in his addresses to them, for which he received reproofs from the Roman Catholic authorities, and when he disregarded them he was banished to a small village. Subsequently he was sent to Schneidemuchl, where he again commenced his labours in the field of the Gospel, and he had soon the happiness to find the seed falling upon good soil, and good fruit being brought forth. Again he was commanded to leave off, but he felt the responsibility of his position, and he hearkened not to them, but at once renounced the Roman Church, and left its communion. Ten individuals accompanied him in his secession, and about four weeks after he established his little community at Schneidemuchl, the letter of Ronge against the holy coat at Treves appeared, and he (Mr. C.) then hailed him as a fellow-warrior against Rome. At a subsequent period the Roman Catholic authorities had resolved secretly to take him (Mr. C.) out of his house, and throw him into a prison; but the watchman of the place let him know of their designs, and he escaped from them (hear, hear). In allusion to their synodical meetings, he said that he had attended the synod of Leipsic thinking its object was to establish unity amongst the various communities, but he found that at that synod they turned their back against Christ, and wished to throw aside the Scriptures; and he had in consequence, refused to subscribe the confession of the synod of Leipsic (hear, hear). The rev. gentleman concluded by recommending himself to the prayers of those present, in order that he might be enabled to carry out the objects which he had in view, in the mission which he had marked out for himself.

The hon. chairman then read the Confession of Faith of the Christian Catholics, the communion to which Czerski belongs, which is to be distinguished from the German Catholics, or Ronge's party.

Post, the friend and collaborateur of Mr. Czerski, next addressed the meeting to the same effect as the latter, and Professor Tholuck having made a few observations, the proceedings terminated.

THE OREGON TERRITORY.

The following article is extracted from the first number of a newspaper called the Spectator, the first published in the Oregon territory. The Spectator is of the same size as most of the Parisian newspapers, is printed in an excellent character, and "got up" in a style which would do credit to any metropolitan printer:—

THE WILLAMETTE RIVER.

It will probably be interesting to many, and particularly so to those who anticipate visiting Oregon at some future time, to know something of the Willamette, the great Falls of which are now so rapidly coming into notice, and to learn something of the many cities that are springing up in the neighbourhood of the most important water privilege west of the Rocky mountains.

The Willamette river takes its rise in the California mountains, and is about 43 degrees of north latitude; its course is nearly north, winding through beautiful fertile prairies, now and then skirted by lofty forests of fir, pine, and cedar, receiving many considerable tributaries both on the east and west—all of which have traversed their whole length through a rich and fertile country, and, in many places, we might say, bounded with beautiful and luxuriant meadows, encircled with the lofty fir, and interspersed with beautiful groves of oak.

But to describe the Willamette in its descent time and space will not permit us to enter minutely either into a description of the river or the country adjoining. On arriving near the Falls, "the river spreads out into a wide, deep basin, and runs slowly and smoothly until within half a mile of the Falls, when its velocity increases, its width diminishes, eddies are formed, in which the water turns back as if loth to make the plunge, but is forced forward by the water in the rear, and when still nearer, it breaks upon the volcanic rocks scattered across the channel, and then, as if resigned to its fate, smooths its agitated surges, and precipitates down an almost perpendicular of 25 feet, presenting a somewhat whitened column." The rising mist, on a pleasant day, forms in the rays of the sun a beautiful bow—the whole forming a sight, the grandeur of which has to be seen to be appreciated.

Below the Falls, for the distance of half a mile, the channel of the river is confined by ledges of basaltic rocks to about 200 yards in width. About one mile below the Falls enters the Clackamas river from the east, which takes its rise near Mount Hood, one of the perpetual snow peaks of the Cascade mountains. Here are the Clackamas Rapids, another obstacle in the navigation of the Willamette; but the difficulties here presented are of minor importance—at almost any stage of water, the boats of the Hudson's Bay Company ascend and descend with but little difficulty. From this place to the mouth of the Willamette, a distance of twenty-five miles, navigation is good, as the tide runs up to the foot of the Clackamas Rapids. The Willamette, running its whole course from south to north, enters the Columbia in about latitude 46 deg. 30 min. north, longitude 122 deg. 20 min. west.

On the east side of the Willamete, at the Falls, the land is claimed by Dr. John M'Laughlin, who laid out Oregon City in the year 1842. The many advantages presented for the growth and prosperity of a manufacturing city are manifest to the most casual observer. We are informed that where Oregon City now stands, it was, three years ago, a dense forest of fir and underbrush. The city is now incorporated, with a population of not less than 500 souls, and about 80 houses.

On the west side of the river, immediately opposite the Falls, the land is claimed by Mr. Robert Moore, who has also laid out a city, called Linn City, and improvements are going a-head. Linn City contains one tavern, one chair manufactory, one cabinet shop, one gunsmith shop, and one waggon shop. Next on the list of cities comes Multnomah City, laid out by Mr. Hugh Burns, immediately adjoining Linn City, and opposite to Oregon City. Multnomah City is located upon a beautiful site, and must, in a short time, be a city in appearance as well as name. The Falls of the Willamette afford ample water privileges for the erection of machinery of every description to any extent desired; and we believe that in a few years there will be constructed a canal on each side of the river, commencing at the head of the Falls and locked down for a distance of one mile, which improvement would afford power for the manufacturing of everything necessary for internal purposes as well as transportation. With these advantages, together with the great quantity of timber immediately in our neighbourhood, a healthy climate, a productive soil, and minerals yet to be found, we are sanguine that the time is not far distant when we must become great, and, we hope, good.

THE PRESIDENT'S VETOES.

(From the New York Weekly Herald, August 15.)

On Monday, at 12 o'clock, the first term of the Twenty-Ninth Congress adjourned, after a session of eight months and eight days, during which a number of very important bills were passed, most of which have become laws of the land; while others, having been acted upon by both houses, were vetoed by the President, and the object in view defeated. The River and Harbour Bill and the French Spoliation Bill were laid on the shelf by the prerogative of the executive. The first bill was vetoed upon constitutional grounds, and the latter upon the want of feasibility, and in consequence of its establishing a precedent, in the opinion of the President, dangerous to our institutions. The justice of these claims is considered by the President very doubtful, and he quotes Mr. Jefferson as an authority for this opinion. These are the first objections; others, such as the inability of the Treasury to meet the demands already made, or to be made upon it, on account of the war. The last objections are the most powerful, but we think the President will not be sustained in the position he has taken in relation to the justice of these claims. A very large portion of the amount claimed by American citizens for spoliations committed by the French prior to the 31st July, 1801, is now in the hands of those who have purchased them of the original holders. Many of them are now in the hands of speculators, who have purchased them of the needy and poverty-stricken owners; and the bill passed by Congress would have put thousands upon thousands of dollars in the pockets of those parties, where it would have put hundreds in the hands of those originally the claimants, or who have inherited the original claims. This however does not affect the justice of the claim upon the government. There is no doubt but that an improper and injudicious period has been selected to satisfy these claims; but we trust that at some future time, when the treasury is not so embarrassed as it is at present, these claims will receive that consideration they are entitled to. The veto of the River and Harbour Bill at first created considerable excitement among the Western members of Congress, and at places interested in the improvements proposed; but it is rapidly subsiding, and the objections of the President meet with general approval. The Mexican Peace Bill was defeated by the want of time. It was killed by Mr. Davis of Massachusetts, talking against time, he having refused to give way for the Chairman of the Finance Committee to introduce a resolution to extend the hour of adjournment, and continuing speaking until within one minute of the hour of final adjournment. In this way the bill was lost, as there is but very little doubt but that it would have passed had there been a little longer time. Thus ended the first session of the twenty-ninth Congress, a session that will long be remembered for its length, for the many important measures perfected, and for the final termination. There have been many things to praise and many to condemn, but upon the whole the people have very little cause of complaint. It is better that the many questions agitated should be disposed of than to have been left open from one time to another.

The Slave Trade.—A letter from Goree, of the 5th ultimo, gives the following details of the slave ship Elisia, captured by the French steamer Australie:—"This vessel, which was captured before she was able to complete her operations, was fitted up to carry 800 slaves to Brazil; but, when captured, she had only 260 on board. There were all subjects of Zoango, and had been sold by the king of the country to the Brazilian traders. Each slave was branded with a letter or figure, in order apparently that he may be recognised on arrival by the party for whom he is destined. Out of the 260 on board there were 150 males from 15 to 25 years of age, 70 females from 8 to 16, and 40 children of both sexes. The confined and ill-ventilated space intended to receive 260 slaves, and where the most cruel disposition would not have thought of confining 50 whites, was merely formed of some barrel staves, thrown in without any regularity, and covered loosely with rough planks. The 260 blacks on board the Elisia, although at their ease compared with what they must have been had the whole cargo been on board, were many of them in a pitiable condition—their limbs crippled and torn, and their bones in many places protruding through the skin."

The Royal Exchange.—The following inscription has been carved on the stone work in the north-west corner of the colonnade, or Merchants' Walk, of the Royal Exchange, the letters being gilt, and tastefully shaded:—"On this site Sir Thomas Gresham, citizen and mercer, of London, erected the first building for the general meeting of merchants, which was named by Queen Elizabeth on the 23rd January, in the fourteenth year of her reign, Anno Domini 1561, 'The Royal Exchange.' It was destroyed by the great fire of London, on the 14th September, 1666; rebuilt and opened on the 28th September, 1669, in the twenty-first year of the reign of King Charles II., and again destroyed by fire on the 10th of January, 1838, and on the 17th of January, 1842, the first stone of this building was laid by her Majesty's Consort, his Royal Highness Prince Albert. The present edifice was opened by her Majesty Queen Victoria, who was graciously pleased to proclaim it the Royal Exchange, on the 28th of October, in the eighth year of her reign, Anno Domini 1844." In a corresponding compartment on the opposite side are the names of the joint "Gresham Committee," of the Corporation of London, and Mercer's Company. An additional clock has been put up by Mr. Dent, who is the maker of the one in the tower of the building. The new clock is above the western entrance.

Opening of Three Public Parks at Manchester.—The public parks in the neighbourhood of Manchester, which have been purchased by voluntary subscription, and are to be devoted to the free and uncontrolled recreation and amusement of the working community in that densely populated district, were inaugurated and thrown open with great ceremony and display of rejoicing, on Saturday last. The day having been pretty generally observed as a holiday by the manufacturers and principal merchants of the town and neighbourhood, vast bodies of working men and clerks were enabled to attend, and when at eleven o'clock, the municipal authorities started from the Town-hall in a gay procession of equipages, the multitude of pedestrians who prepared to accompany them was almost beyond calculation. At Salford they were joined by the municipal authorities of that borough. The parks have been severally named the Queen's Park, the Peel Park, and the Phillips Park, (the latter in honour of Mr. Mark Phillips, one of the representatives of the borough of Manchester). As a matter of convenience, it was resolved to open the Peel Park first, the grounds lying within the jurisdiction of the borough of Salford. It was expected that Lord Ellesmere would have performed the ceremony of baptism for the Peel Park, but his lordship was unavoidably absent, and the duty devolved on the Mayor of Manchester, (W. B. Watkins, Esq.,) who addressed the assemblage on the gratifying spectacle before them. No fewer than 5000 working persons, he said, had contributed to the Park fund, and the manner in which they had been backed by their wealthy neighbours gave a practical refutation to the statement that the manufacturing and mercantile classes of the kingdom were actuated solely by a desire to accumulate wealth, without caring for the sufferings or enjoyments of their poorer neighbours. The worthy magistrate then formally declared a transfer of the property to the Salford corporation, and having christened the grounds by the name of the Peel Park, they were declared to be henceforth and for ever free to the public. The announcement was received with loud huzzas by the multitude, amid the firing of cannon and the braying of trumpets, which made it almost deafening. The party then proceeded to the Queen's Park at Harpurhey (formerly the Hendham-hall estate), about two miles distant to the eastward from the Manchester Exchange on the Rochdale road. Here a ceremony similar to that at the Peel Park was performed by Mr. Mark Phillips, M.P., who addressed the multitude on the importance of the occasion they had met to celebrate, and urging them to still further exertions. This park is about the same size as the Peel Park, and is laid out in a similar style. The Phillips Park, which is situated at Bradford, about a mile and a-half from Manchester, was next inaugurated. The name was given to it by Mr. Entwisle, M.P., who indulged in a warm eulogium on Mr. Phillips, for the manner in which he had performed his Parliamentary duties. Mr. Phillips expressed his acknowledgments for the high honour that had been done to himself and family by calling the park after his name. The whole proceeding passed off in a most gratifying manner.—Atlas, August 29.

Irish Destitution.—Numbers to be Fed.—Quantity of Food Necessary.—The following estimate of the numbers to be fed during the ensuing season, and the quantity of food necessary to sustain them, is from the letter of a Protestant clergyman, published in the Evening Mail of yesterday:—"It has been believed by those who have inquired and calculated upon the subject, that the number of persons living altogether of late years upon potatoes in Ireland has exceeded one-half of the whole population; let us, therefore, for an approximation, and for convenience of calculation, assume such persons to amount in round numbers to 4,200,000. Now, I have satisfied myself that, for the daily support of each individual, old and young, in a large community, two-thirds of a pound of Indian meal is, on an average, sufficient: or that one stone of Indian meal will support twenty-one persons for a day; and thus 200,000 stones of Indian meal would supply the said 4,200,000 individuals with a sufficient quantity of food daily. If this, then, be a fair and reasonable calculation, and if Indian meal be the substitute for potatoes, or the staple food on which one-half of the Irish people are to exist during the next year, it is well always to bear in mind the above important fact, that the potato-eating population of Ireland will require a supply of Indian meal during the next year to the enormous extent of 200,000 stone, or of 1,250 tons daily; so that, supposing this daily supply to be continued for ten months, or 300 days, the entire importation of Indian meal necessary for the existence of the people, during the next year, would be not less than 375,000 tons; or, assuming that each ton would cost the importer, when delivered, the average amount of £8, the entire sum expended on the importation of Indian corn within the year will be just £3,000,000. Now, whether the merchants and corn dealers in Ireland are able and willing to import Indian corn to this vast extent, seems a question of grave importance, and one respecting which the government ought to have a very direct and satisfactory assurance, and they should also, I think, ascertain whether, if an importation to the preceding extent were made, the mills in Ireland would be capable of grinding it with due rapidity, as a multitude of them cannot at present possibly grind 1250 tons of corn within six months." The Limerick Chronicle states that a farmer in that county offered half an acre of potatoes, which he had grown on land well manured, and which he had tilled at great expense, for five shillings. The Belfast Vindicator says:—In Ulster the crop is everywhere looked upon as wholly lost. Where the rot is not at work, growth is suspended, and the sickly, unripe appearance of the tubers argue that they are, at best, unwholsome food. In many localities the farmers have given permission to anybody who pleases, to dig in their fields and carry off whatever sound potatoes he may find amidst the general decay. So complete is the destruction, that the sound potatoes to be found are not considered worth the labour of turning over the ground in search of them. This is a lamentable fact; but unfortunately it is but too true. There were upwards of 3000 barrels of new wheat at Limerick on Saturday, and sold briskly at 14½d. to 16½d. per stone. William Heweston, Esq., from Cork district, succeeds E. P. Coffin, Esq., as Commissary General in Limerick; Mr. Coffin goes to Sligo. Commissary E. P. Coffin wrote from Limerick to the chairman of the Listowel Relief Committee, complaining of the manner in which Captain Home, their secretary, kept his accounts, and pressing for immediate settlement thereof, and payment of the balance. The Committee examined the account, and resolved that it was accurately kept by Captain Home—the balance to the Commissariat being 164 sacks, value £12. They concluded with expressing their regret at the Commissary's censure of Captain Home, to whose assiduity, zeal, and attention Listowel district was so much indebted. "From the various representations made to government," says the Limerick Chronicle, "there is little doubt but supplies of meal will be continued to the Commissariat for distribution in the most necessitous districts, where the market price is likely to be exorbitant."

TO LET, the first House in Jamison-street, late in the occupation of Mr. Aspinwall. Immediate possession can be given. Enquire of F. Smith, opposite the Gas Company's Works, Kent street. 10205

TO BE LET, the House and Premises, No. 325, Castlereagh-street North. The house contains dining and drawing rooms, four bedrooms, kitchen, laundry, and large cellar; in the yard there is a good two-stalled stable, with loft over it. Apply at the office of Mr. Morehead, O'Connell-street. 10210

HOUSE TO LET.—To let, the house in Horbury Terrace, late in the occupation of Captain Hector. Apply to

GEORGE KING,
9760 14, Jamison-street.

TO BE LET, those three newly-built houses, at the corner of York-street and Barrack-lane; they are finished with every attention to comfort, and possession will be given on the 1st of January next. Apply to

MR. PLOMER,
86, Castlereagh-street.
19th December. 9948

TO BE LET, with immediate possession, the Dwelling House and spacious Stores in Lower George-street, adjoining the Queen's Wharf, and lately in the occupation of Mr. John Hopkins, Ship Chandler. Apply to William Walker and Co. 8972

BALMAIN.

WALLSCOURT LODGE, that large and commodious house, lately vacated by the Rev. Mr. Allwood, is ready for immediate occupation. These premises are well worthy the attention of any respectable family on the look-out for a genteel residence in a most healthy situation. There is a large garden to supply plenty of fruit and vegetables, with the use of a private bathing-house, and will be let at a very moderate rent.

Apply to Mr. Blake, at Mount Shamrock, Balmain. 8954

GOVERNOR GIPPS ARMS.

TO BE LET, with immediate possession, all that commodious and excellent Inn on the Parramatta Road, within half a mile of the well known as the

HOMEBUSH RACE-COURSE,

"GOVERNOR GIPPS ARMS,"

with about nine acres of ground, and the whole of

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE.

These premises are replete with every convenience, and have been finished in the most expensive style; their contiguity to the Race-course, great thoroughfare, and immense traffic, must ever render this a most valuable property. To any tenant determined to look well after the premises, they present the prospect of a handsome independence in a very few years.

The premises are so well known that it is hardly necessary to recapitulate all the advantages: suffice it to say that they comprise stabling and boxes for forty horses, a spacious yard, with entrance from the road, an excellent garden of three acres, containing every variety of fruit trees and vegetables, and water of the purest quality in abundance.

For further particulars, and as to rent, &c., apply Mr. Cooper Turner, 555, George-street. 9122

TO BE LET ON LEASE, for seven or fourteen years, that newly built house, built by Mr. W. Parker, where neither pains nor expense have been spared to render it comfortable and convenient as an Inn. The house is on the Great Western Road, on the banks of South Creek, containing nine large rooms, with private entrance hall seven feet wide, with a verandah sixty-one feet by seven; the front is fitted up with French lights and blinds, has a good cellar, and not fifty yards from pure water, where that great luxury in summer, a Bath, might be made in the rear; kitchen twenty-one feet by fourteen, laundry fourteen feet by nine, a six-stall stable and good garden, also a paddock. All the building is of brick, and built in the first style. Rent moderate to a respectable tenant. For particulars apply on the ground, to W. Parker, South Creek, or to Mr. Robert Porter, George-street, Sydney. 8810

BUSINESS PREMISES.

TO LET, in the most central part of George-street, near the Post Office, a spacious Shop, and dry cellar for storing goods, with or without comfortable and commodious Dwelling House attached, containing kitchen well supplied with water, pantry, servants' room, three-stall stable, &c., &c. More eligible premises for business cannot be selected in town. For further particulars apply at the Herald Office. 9625

KEERA-VALE, ILLAWARRA,

TO BE SOLD, OR LET FOR SUCH TERM AS MAY BE AGREED UPON.

KEERA-VALE is situated at the foot of Mount Keera, and is distant one mile and a half from the seaport town of Wollongong. The house is quite new, the painting and varnishing having been only just completed. It is a substantial building, containing eight rooms, four on the ground, and four on the upper floor, with a spacious hall on the ground floor, and a large room or resting place of corresponding size on the floor above. On three sides of the house there is a verandah, and a balcony over it. The kitchen, storeroom, and outhouses, are situated in a well enclosed yard at the back of the house, which is in every respect a suitable residence for a family of the first respectability. The ground attached to the house consists of two enclosed paddocks of about twelve acres and a half each, and a garden of three acres, well stocked with fruit trees and ornamental trees and shrubs. The garden is enclosed with a substantial four-rail fence, and is of the richest alluvial soil to be met with in Illawarra. A crop of oats and clover of about eleven acres, and of above two acres of potatoes (of the best Derwent seed) is in the ground, and may be taken at a valuation. There is a constant supply of excellent water, as the Mill Brook, one of the finest and most copious mountain streams in Illawarra passes by one of the paddocks. The whole farm of Keera-vale is open for disposal by sale. It consists of about 360 acres, which, with the exception of the above mentioned portions of land is leased to an improving tenant, of whose lease two years and three months from the 1st of January next are unexpired.

Apply to Geo. K. Holden, Esq, Solicitor, King-street, Sydney; or Mr. B. M'Cawley, Wollongong. The terms will be found easy and liberal to a party disposed to purchase the house and farm.

P. S.—A steamer whose usual passage to and from Wollongong is six or seven hours, plies twice a week, and daily opportunities of communication are offered by sailing vessels. 748

The Beautiful Agricultural Farm,
"WOODLANDS,"

SITUATE IN THE DISTRICT OF ILLAWARRA, AT THE FOOT OF THE MOUNTAIN, BETWEEN THE COAST AND THE NEW LINE OF ROAD BETWEEN SYDNEY AND WOLLONGONG; TOGETHER WITH THE WHOLE OF THE VALUABLE CHATTEL PROPERTY, CONSISTING OF HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE AND EFFECTS, WHEAT, OATS, MAIZE, LUCERNE, CARTS, DRAYS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, IMPLEMENTS OF HUSBANDRY, WORKING BULLOCKS, HORSES, &c.

BEING A POSITIVE SALE.

MR. STUBBS is favoured with instructions from Captain Westmacott, preliminary to his return to England, to sell by public auction,

ON THE PREMISES, ILLAWARRA,
ON THURSDAY, THE 14TH DAY OF JANUARY, 1847,
Sale at 11 o'clock precisely,

The beautiful agricultural Farm of "Woodlands, including the house, kitchen, laundry, and other offices, four-stall stable, stores, farm yards, pig-styes, fowl yard, garden, orchard, and the vineyard, &c.

The estate contains 164 acres of excellent land, most part rich brush, abundantly irrigated by two independent streams, which come from the declivity of the mountains. Fourteen acres have been appropriated to the growth of wheat, whilst other portions have been set apart for oats, maize, lucerne, mangel-wurzel, clover, and a very productive garden, orchard, and vineyard.

The residence is quite new, and pleasantly situated. It contains 8 rooms, well furnished, and is surrounded by a fine wide verandah 142 feet in extent, kitchen, laundry, wash-house, servants' room, barn 50 x 24, (groaning under the wheat harvest of 1846), four-stall stable, loose box, store, and cart shed, piggery with expensive styes, stock-yards, and a smaller cottage with two rooms 16 feet square.

Gentlemen who would wish more fully to survey this excellent farm, are respectfully invited to do so previous to the sale. It is approachable either by land or by water, and cards to view may be had by applying to the auctioneer, at the Mart, King-street.

TERMS FOR THE ESTATE.—Half cash, and the residue to be paid on the completion of the title deeds, for which 12 months credit will be given, without interest.

☞ In the mean time, the purchaser will be put in possession.

For particulars of title, intending buyers are respectfully referred to Messrs. Holden, Chambers, and Co., George and King streets, Sydney. 10214

MONDAY AFTER CHRISTMAS DAY.

ABSOLUTE AND POSITIVE SALE OF LEICHHARDT LODGE, WITH 22 TERRACE ALLOTMENTS, FRONTING THE NEWTOWN ROAD.

TO BE SOLD BY PUBLIC AUCTION,
BY MR. STUBBS,
UPON TWELVE MONTHS' CREDIT,
Viz:

25 per cent. cash deposit, and the residue at 3, 6, 9, and 12 months, without interest.

MR. STUBBS exercises the pleasing duty of announcing to the citizens of Sydney, military, civil, and other gentlemen, who intend to make this colony their future residence, that he has been instructed by the proprietor

TO SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION,
ON MONDAY AFTER CHRISTMAS DAY,
28TH DECEMBER, 1846,
ON THE GROUND,
At twelve o'clock precisely,
THE VILLA PROPERTY
Known as
LEICHHARDT LODGE.

This delightful place exhibits one of the best openings of industry of any in the neighbourhood of Newtown, the proprietor having spared neither expense nor pains to render it the ne plus ultra of enjoyment and comfort.

It is centrally situated, and stands in the midst of a large, populous, and greatly improving part of Newtown, and surrounded by the beautiful seats of Leitrim, Linthorpe, and Camperdown Terrace.

The really valuable Terrace frontage of the

18 BUILDING ALLOTMENTS

will excite competition at the sale, but they ought to tempt an absolute speculation of them in

IN ONE LOT,
BY SOME SPIRITED BUILDER, OR THE WORKING CLASSES.

The preparatory buildings gently retire from the road, and consist of a handsome 4-roomed cottage, stable, coach-house, laundry, fowl-house, well, reservoir, and yard, well protected by a neat brick wall, &c.

The chief excellence of the garden is in the soil, which has been made very productive by the skilful hand of the trencher, in connection with the deposit of some thousand loads of manure; finer vegetables, in fact, cannot be produced.

The Title Deeds will be produced on the ground, where
